CHICAGO, March 8 .- Wheat this morning touched the lowest point yet reached on last year's crop. The news was mostly bearish, and the trade was very dull, with a decidedly bearish feeling manifested. Prices at Liverpool were 1d lower; London was 3d lower on cargoes for prompt shipment; the weather and the condition of the ground for seeding in the Northwest were reported as all that could be desired, and there was an increase in ocean passage of 1.464.000 bushels, which was a surprise in view of the decreased exports from this country and the light Indian shipments On the other hand, New York notified that ninety boat-loads had been taken there for export, and the English visible supply showed a decrease of 914,000 bushels. The British Corn Trade News estimates European requirements for the next twenty-two weeks at 197,000,000 bushels. May wheat opened $\frac{1}{2}\text{c}$ cold down to $7\frac{1}{2}\text{c}$. rallied to $8\text{c}$ at 10:45, was quoted at $7\frac{1}{2}\text{c}$. Corn was dull and very steady, with little to influence values in either direction. Story Concerning the Baby that Died At the Orphan Asylum

The public is familiar with the story of the finding of a young baby in a basket by Mrs. Craft and its subsequent death at the orphan asylum, last week. The following special from Brazil seems to throw some light on the matter: Special to The Indianapolis News.

BRAZIL, March 8.—Last Saturday the Indianapolis papers contained an account of the arrest of a Mrs. Craft for abandoning an infant child, and of its subsequent death at a police station in Indianapolis, the result of exposure. Mrs. Craft explained that the child had been handed to her in a basket as she stepped on the plat-form of the train, and that she knew noth-ing of the basket's contents until the train had left the city. The police went to work on the matter, and discovered that a child had been born in a room in the Rigby Hotel last Tuesday night, and that the mother had been moved the next day to the home of a Mrs. Reed. To-day at Mrs. Reed's the young mother was found, and made a complete confession to the and made a complete confession to the police. Her name is Miss Jennie Kimball, and she recently came from Du Quoin. Ill., to visit friends. She says her cousin, William Douglass, manager of the Western and a prominent young man, is the father of her child. Last summer Miss Kimball visited Mr. Douglass and his sister, and by her beauty and modesty created a most favorable impression in the city. She says that Douglass betrayed her and she came to him in her hour of trouble. She asserts that she knows nothing of the disposition of the child; that Douglass brought Mrs. Craft, a relative of his, from Indianapolis and that they took the child away, but she insists that warm clothing had been made and put on the baby, notwithstanding it had been found in Indianapolis almost naked. Doug-lass left the city the day after the birth of the child and his whereabouts are un-known. The mother has created great ex-citement here, which is intensified by the owledge that Mrs. Craft is under arrest. Mr. Douglass's father lives in Indianapolis.

Superintendent Wallick, of the Western Union company, went to Brazil this morning, and, after an examination of Douglass's accounts, telegraphed to his assistant here that the February accounts had been closed up properly and were correct. If there should be any shortage, it will be in the receipts of the present month, and can not amount to more than a few dollars.

Broad Ripple Franchise Referred to a Committee-Kissell's Road-House Annexed - Dead Animal Ordinance.

Attorneys Mason, Spencer and Taylor, and President Bosson of the Broad Ripple company, were at the Council last night to look after the franchise of the company look after the franchise of the company. Several candidates for boiler inspector were on hand to aid in passing the ordinance creating that office. The Board of Public Works sent in the franchise granted, to the Council. Mr. Olsen wanted it referred at once, but Mr. Gasper insisted that it be read by title. When this was done, Mr. Gasper moved that as it was to be referred to the committee on franchises, the committee be instructed to report it at the next meeting of the Council, be that meeting regular or special. This called forth considerable discussion, but Mr. Gasper's motion prevailed, tion prevailed.

A protest was read from the Department of Public Health against the amending of the "dead animal ordinance." It was received and filed away.

Mr. Ryan, from the committee on contracts and franchises, made a report including an opinion from the city attorney. The city attorney arrived at the following onclusions at law regarding the right to make water rates for private consumers:

Primarily the Common Council by general ordinance has the right and power to fix water rates to private consumers which will be binding upon all persons and corporations not operating under a contract, and which will likewise attach and apply to any company now possessing contractual rights, will likewise attach and apply to any com-pany now possessing contractual rights, should a time ever be reached, when such agreement has expired.

It is the sole province of the Board of Public Works to negotiate all contracts relative to water furnished to the city, as a corporation, and to fix rates to private consumers, within the terms of existing ordinances, which con-tracts must be approved by the Common Council.

the terms of existing ordinances, which contracts must be approved by the Common Council.

There is a contract now in existence between the city of Indianapolis and the Indianapolis Water Company, covering the supply jurnished to the city itself, and in terms adopting and making the ordinance of 1870 a part of such contract which provides that the rates to private consumers shall be fixed by agreement or arbitration, within the limitations hereinbefore indicated. So long, therefore, as it remains and is held as a valid agreement between the parties thereto, the city by its Common Council can not fix water rates to private consumers, which will be in violation of the terms of such contract.

Under and pursuant to the terms of the existing contract, it is the duty of the city and the Water Company, annually, to agree upon the rates io private consumers. And in the event of a failure between said company and the city to so agree, the question shall be submitted to arbitration in the manner elsewhere herein set forth. These rates to private consumers are not now incorporated in or fixed by the Board of Public Works, and in view of the Water Company to submit its rates to sid board, and, in a supplemental contract made with said board to agree upon such rates covering one year from the date of its adoption, which should be approved by ordinance of the Council, and in case of a failure to make such an agreement, the question must be submitted to arbitration.

As to the validity of the terms, and especially of Sec. 3, of the ordinance of 1876, It would respectfully suggest that, under the power delegated by the State in the act of '65, it is made the duty of the Common Council to impose such restrictions upon the Water Company as shall protect said city and its inhabitants from number or excessive chercis or the council.

765, it is made the duty of the Common Council to impose such restrictions upon the Water Company as shall protect said city and its inhabitants from undue or excessive charges for water (provided such restrictions shall not reduce the income of said company below a dividend of 10 per cent, after the payment of repairs and expenses), and that, under this language, the city had and has no right whatever to delegate such authority to arbitration, or to limit the city in its power of imposing such restrictions to an agreement which must be assented to by the company.

The limitation which provides that rates should not exceed those of other cities of the same population having as efficient water-works is so impractical and uncas, in my opinion, to be void. As a quof practical benefit to private cons water-works is so impractical and uncertain as, in my opinion, to be void. As a question of practical benefit to private consumers, however, it is very apparent that, with the 10 per cent. limitation placed upon the Council by the act of 1865, its ability to reduce the present rates is absolutely destroyed.

I wish also to express adoubt as to the power of the city to grant a charter to any corporation which may be considered in the nature of a perpetual grant incapable of amendment. The franchise in question, however, is limited; first, by the original statute of '85, under which the Water Company is organized, to fifty years, and its rights will expire in 1919; and, secondly, by a provision in the original act giving the city the right to purchase the plant of said company within twenty-five years from the company's organization, which is well-nigh expired, and by the language of the ordinance of 1870, where it is agreed that the city at any time, on giving six months' notice, shall have the right to purchase said plant at such price as may be agreed upon between the city and the company, and, in case of a disagreement, that the price shall be fixed by arbitration. So far as the term of the contract be concerned, therefore, I see no ground upon which the franchise could be declared void, unless it might be regarded as unreasonable, a decision which I would consider as altogether improbable.

might be regarded as unreasonable, a decision which I would consider as altogether improbable.

Aside from the conclusions above given, I wish to call attention to the desirability of incorporating at full length in any contract now made with the Water Company every right given or duty imposed which may relate to the subject, so that such an instrument shall stand in lieu of all other ordinances or contracts whatsoever theretofore passed or agreed upon, to the end that the city, the Water Company and the public may know where—in what document—and within what limits their rights and duties are to be found. By this, the use of that dangerous and uncertain clause, "and thereafter until a new contract shall be made," heretofore employed, may be avoided and the city be left, at the expiration of such period, in an attitude of exact equality with the company.

The franchise committee, after quoting from Mr. Bailey's opinion, made the follow-

The suggestion of the city attorney that any contract now entered into between the city and the Water Company should clearly define all the rights existing between the parties thereto, and be in lieu of all other contracts or ordinances so fully meets with the approval of your committee that they urge that the Board of Public Works undertake to secure upon a agreement with said company. The is that left at the company's mercy. This clause should, by all means, be retained in any new contract, but, if possible, it should be modified by adding thereto the following words: "Provided, further, that this contract may be terminated by the Board of Public Works at any time after the expiration of the fixed term of years for which it is made by the said board's giving to said company a written notice of thirty days." " " The committee recommends that the Board of Public Works enter into an agreement with the Water Company by which the maximum rates to private consumers shall be fixed. " " The Water Company consents and the Board of Public Works deems it wise to so agree. The provision covering the matter of maximum rates to private consumers may be made covering a period of more than one year.
